Final Progress Report for Finger Finger Revolution Prototype

Neil Gurnani, Shivani Jayendraprasad, Kevin Li, and Maxwell Weng

Agenda

- Our Motivation
- Final Prototype Features & Capabilities
- Prototype Demonstration
- Success and Changes in Scope
- Bringing Prototype to the Market

Our Motivation

Little Toy Blue needs...

- Proposed plans for affordable, educational, and microprocessor-powered toys
- Prototypes that demonstrate the feasibility of these toy plans
- People to build these prototypes

Nostalgia is Marketable

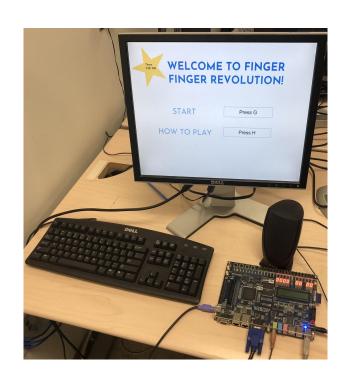

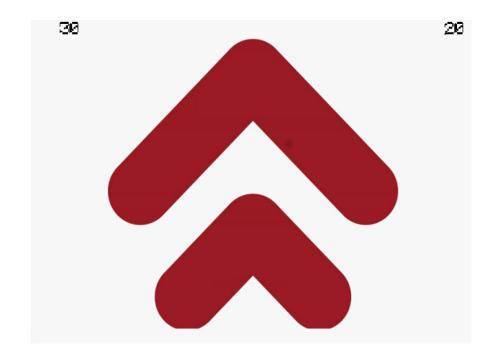

https://www.shmoop.com/guotes

Our Final Prototype

Final Prototype Features

SELECT A SONG

Jingle Bells
James Pierpont

Ode to Joy Ludwig van Beethoven

Mr. Brightside
The Killers

Uptown Funk
Mark Ronson ff. Bruno Mars

Four Seasons - Spring
Antonio Vivaldi

Press 1

Press 2

Press 3

Press 4

Press 5

SELECT NEW SONG

Press N

MAIN MENU

Press R

EXIT GAME

Press E

Player 2 score displayed here

Player 1 score displayed here

CHOOSE PLAYER MODE

SINGLE PLAYER

Press Z

MULTIPLAYER

Press X

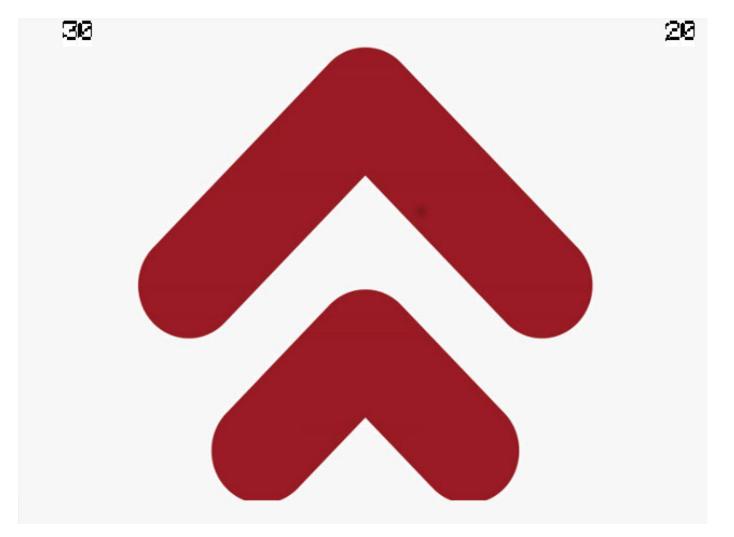

HOW TO PLAY

Press the appropriate key when the arrow appears on the screen. The faster you press the correct key, the higher you score!

RETURN TO MAIN MENU

Press R

Demonstration of Prototype

Development Process

Obstacles

Successes

- Increased music selection
- Music load time
- Scorekeeping and display
- Menu screens integration

Changes of Scope

- SD Card vs SDRAM
- Production and randomization of arrows
- Multiplayer modes

Bringing FFR to the Market

Looking Ahead

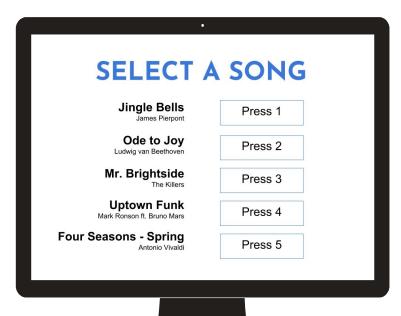

Prototype VGA Game Screen

Planned FFR VGA Game Screen

Looking Ahead

Prototype Selection Screen

Planned FFR Song Selection Screen

Final Remarks

- Provided prototype
- Demonstrated feasibility
- Bring toy into the market

Thanks for listening! Questions?

Neil Gurnani, Shivani Jayendraprasad, Kevin Li, and Maxwell Weng